PROJECTS

Hotel Globushof, Hamburg

Following the demolition of the Allianz Building in Hamburg's old town, a new mixed use urban quarter with office, retail, residential and hotel spaces was developed. Part of the ensemble is the listed historic building "Globushof", designed by architects Lundt and Kallmorgen in 1907/08. The Globushof was extensively renovated and converted into a luxury hotel with approx. 150 rooms - in a prime central location, only a short walk from Hamburg City Hall. An existing 1960s annexe was replaced by a new extension to the hotel. Magdalena was an active member of of the team designing the hotel and was involved at the German equivalent of RIBA work stages 1-3.
